Griffmen Finally Win a Ball Game Eddie Walsh Is Cheered by Fans

Southpaw Harry Harper puts Crimp in Walsh's Come-back, 3 to 2.

NESS' ERROR COSTLY

By WILLIAM PEET.
Chicago, June 12.—Chicago fans today gave big Ed Walsh a big bunch of roses to celebrate his "come-back" stunt. The Griffmen gave Big Ed a lapping he will not forget in a hurry and snatched the come-back stuff something scandalous.

Before proceeding further it might be well to mention that the Nationals won a ball game. Winning games these days is a rarity and we should have mentioned it in the first paragraph. The score was 3 to 2.

Walsh is Pounded.
Walsh tried to "come back" last year, and got away with it for three games, winning them all, but the down-trodden, fast-kicking Griffmen found a way to stop his former reputation this afternoon and drove him from the box in the third inning. Russell, the relief twirler, and Wolfgang, who succeeded Russell, held our side in check, but the damage had already been inflicted, as Washington's three-run lead proved ample, although the home crowd pulled up dangerously near with a rally in the fifth, which produced a couple of markers.

Tomorrow morning the Chicago newspapers will be full of alibis, explaining why Ed Walsh failed to stage his annual "come-back." They will inform the public that but for a bum chuck by Ness, Walsh would have survived the third inning, when the Nationals put over two runs.

It is true that Ness did contribute a bad peg, but on the other hand it is about time things started to break our way and errors are a part of the grand old pastime. Goodness knows the Nationals have made enough of them since leaving the Capital.

Rondeau in Limelight.
Henry Rondeau was played in left field and Griff made a wise move. Rondeau drove in the big run, counted with a base hit and should be kept in the team from now on.

A double play was all that saved Ed Walsh's bacon in the first inning. The Nationals got to the big fellow for a marker in the second, as Washington's down, Morgan walked and crossed the plate on Foster's slam to deep left field, the blow being good for two bases.

The third Washington inning saw the finish of Walsh, and in addition the Washington victory for the first time. The Nationals were rushed across the plate before Walsh was removed.

Harry Harper opened the third with a wallop to left field which yielded two bases. The ball landed behind Wagner and bounced to the standard. Moeller singled to right, putting Harper on third. Judge grounded to Ness, who tossed to Collins at second with a double play in sight, but the throw was wide, and before the ball could be recovered, Harper was over the plate, Moeller on third base and Judge at second.

Milan dumped the ball in front of the catcher, and Moeller was nipped at home. Rondeau then came across with a healthy swing to left field, scoring Judge, and came big Ed Walsh, the new pitcher being Rebel Russell, who quickly retired the side.

Not a safe hit was registered by the White Sox off Harper until the fourth inning. Joe Judge, in a chapter by drawing a walk, Felsch dropped a Texas leaguer back of McBride. Ray Schalk grounded to Harper, who fumbled just long enough to permit Jackson a safe journey to third and allow Felsch to reach second. Schalk, however, was thrown out at first base. Terry poked a double to right, scoring Jackson and Felsch with the White Sox' only tally. Harper then settled down and retired the side.

After the fifth inning Harper allowed but one hit, and was never in danger. Harry had the Rowland crowd eating out of his hand. Russell and Wolfgang were also very much of a puzzle, although the Nationals threatened to score in the eighth on a misadventure signal going amiss and spilling the game. Score:

MARSHALL NAMED PILOT OF THE GALLAUDET NINE

Charles C. Marshall, a junior, was elected captain of the Gallaudet College baseball team for 1917, at a meeting of the varsity players yesterday.

GO SIXTEEN INNINGS TO SCORELESS TIE

Boston, Mass., June 12.—After a long lay-off, the Braves got into action today with the Reds as opponents. Heavy rain early in the afternoon left a soggy field. Rudolph kept the hits fairly well scattered and stopped a liner from Clarke during the twelfth inning, with the bases full and two out. Fitzpatrick tried to believe the twelfth from second, when Compton hit in front of the plate, and Wingo was throwing him out. Groh came racing to the plate ahead of Fitzpatrick and taking a pretty throw from Molwitz, tagged the runner for a double play. Score:

Called and sixteen innings; darkness.
*Batted for Toney in twelfth.
*Batted for Truesdale in tenth.
*Batted for Rudolph in twelfth.

Former Star of White Sox Hurling Staff Is Given Hand When Driven from Box.

JOHNSON WORKS TODAY

Chicago, June 12.—Ed Walsh, former White Sox star pitcher who has made thousands of dollars for the owners of the ball club, is "through" as a twirler, although he will probably be carried by the Sox all season and draw his salary. He is slated for a job as minor league manager or possibly as umpire in the big show. Walsh put everything he had on the ball today, but the old "zip" was lacking and even his "spitter" was easy to hit.

Chicago fans are still loyal to their former idol. When Manager Rowland called Walsh in the third inning, telling him to quit the box, the big gathering instead of remaining silent sent up a cheer that could be heard for miles. The cheer was not because of the bombardment uncorried by the Nationals, but rather a pat on the back, expressing the sentiment, "you did your best, old boy, and we are still for you."

Walter Johnson was slated to pitch today's game against Walsh, but Griff switched at the last minute and substituted Harper, who twirled the best game of his career.

Johnson is slated to work in the final game of the series tomorrow and will probably be opposed by Urban Faber, the big fellow, who trimmed the Nationals in Washington last month.

The hardest ball Rondeau hit today was a line drive to center in the fifth inning. Jackson made a wonderful catch, spearing the ball while on the dead run. In addition to this wallop Rondeau came across with a pair of clean blows and stole a base. Griff will probably keep Rondeau in the game for the present.

Today's victory, the second one for the Griffmen since leaving home, has raised the spirits of the athletes considerably, and while no predictions are made as to what the future of this trip will bring forth, so many unexpected set-backs having thus far been encountered, yet it is a cinch that the men will play better ball and unless the St. Louis Browns have greatly improved since this club showed in Washington, there is every reason to believe that considerable lost ground will be regained in the Ground City.

The Nationals leave on the 10:45 express tomorrow night for St. Louis, where a series of four games will be staged.

Pitcher Kenneth McGovern was in uniform this afternoon and warming up with Almshelm before the game. McGovern has a good, easy motion and appeared to possess considerable speed.

The weather today was warm and sultry, the first warm day the club has encountered since leaving the Capital. The indications for tomorrow are not promising, as rain is scheduled, but every effort will be made to play the ball game.

While in Chicago and stopping at the same hotel with the Nationals was the ball club representing Waseda University, of Tokyo, Japan, in charge of Coach Kono and captained by Asanuma, one of the clearest infielders ever developed in Japan.

The Japanese players had heard of Walter Johnson and they soon picked him out and introduced themselves, asking him numerous questions in the English language. Johnson shook hands all around and answered questions unhesitatingly. The Orientals seemed very much impressed.

From Beloit, Wisconsin, the home of Ed Garrity, a little party of five came to Chicago to cheer the Griffmen. The party included T. Garrity and J. Garrity, brothers of the young catcher; G. Sullivan, J. Screenan and P. Screenan.

We think a whole lot of Ed in our town," said John Garrity, "and we are pulling for him to make good in the big show. Believe me the boys in Beloit are all rooting for Washington to win the pennant."

Pitcher Harry Harper has just received word that his township of Hacksack, N. J., has planned for a Harper Day at the Polo Grounds, New York, June 23, where a big demonstration is to be held. This means that "Moxie" will receive a lot of jewelry, flowers and other presents and probably be knocked out of the box in the sixth or seventh inning.

Manager Rowland could not have selected a better pitcher than Mel Wolcott to work against the Nationals in Chicago last Saturday. In the first place the diamond was so soft and soggy, due to five days of constant rain, that extra base hits were scarcer than offers of marriage to an old maid. Balls grounded to infielders came on easy hops and the Griffmen were held at a big disadvantage.

Like all spitball pitchers, Wolcott happened to have one of his good days and his control was just about perfect. Next to Covalske, the Cleveland twirler, Wolcott has as good a spitball as any twirler in the American League.

The history of spitball pitching, except in rare instances like Jack Chesbro and Big Ed Walsh, has been that they are erratic, one day unbeatible and the next a soft mark for any club, everything depending upon control.

In spite of the bad weather throughout the West, the Nationals have been favored with good-sized crowds in every city they have played. In Chicago last Saturday, with the wind blowing a gale and colder than Greenland's icy mountains, nearly 5,000 fans parted with gate money to see Washington and Chicago perform.

CENTRAL HIGH WINS FROM TECHNICAL NINE

Manual Trainers Lose One-Sided Game to O Streeters by 5 to 1. Gottlieb in Form.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

By JACK EASTER.

Central High yesterday defeated their ancient rivals, Technical, in the high school series in a one-sided game by 5 to 1. Sam Gottlieb, who did the hurling for the Central team, had the Manual Trainers eating out of his hand throughout the entire contest, striking out seven and allowing but four scattered hits.

Technical's lone tally came in the final inning, when Gottlieb eased up. Danny Hurd, who did the hurling for the Manual Trainers, deserted the better fate, as he was ragged support by his teammates at the critical time paved the way for many of the O Streeters' tallies.

Outside of Gottlieb's hurling, Capt. "Molly" Roberts, of the O Streeters, played a brilliant game, as he scored two of his team's five runs and drove in three others by his timely swatting. The score:
